

LED Sculpture “Living Colors” Celebrates “Creative Economy” Wed. Aug. 22 at 6:00 p.m. at SMUD Customer Service Center

Grant-winning artist Vincent Damyanovich introduces his LED-enabled sculpture, “Living Colors: An Interactive Art Experience” at a free, public event on Wednesday, August 22 from 6:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. at the SMUD Customer Service Center located at 6301 S Street in Sacramento.

A short program begins at 6:30 p.m. and will feature Damyanovich discussing his work, followed by a 5-minute performance piece commissioned for this event. It will feature dancers interacting with the 9-foot tall by 15-foot wide “light box” that is programmed to cycle through color designs that change by touch and motion. SMUD Board Vice President Dave Tamayo will open the formal program, and Sacramento City Councilmember Jeff Harris will talk about the role public art is District 3.

Damyanovich’s “Living Colors” sculpture was one of 56 projects funded in part through the “Creative Economy Pilot Project,” a $500,000 grant program approved by the Sacramento City Council in January 2017 which provided microgrants up to $5,000, and grants up to $25,000.

The program consists of four strategies: 1) Make Sacramento a Platform for Experimentation; 2) Build a Place-based Neighborhood Ecosystem around Food, Tech, and Art; 3) Empower Individual Creators, Makers, and Entrepreneurs; 4) Practice What We Preach: Civic Engagement and Innovation in City Hall.
