

Artnium Project: Art Open Call for Sacramento Artists / Contact: artniumproject@gmail.com.

Eligibility: Greater Sacramento Area Artists 18 and over. Photography is not accepted.

Description:

Sacramento is a fast-growing, culturally diverse and innovative megapolis and we couldn't be more proud! But as any burgeoning metro area it is not without its share of problems. The good news is we have a strong community of advocates, artists and activists who care about our region and want to make it better. Our project aims to create a place where artists, non-profit advocates and the community at large can converge over art and discuss issues local to Greater Sacramento area. We believe that with the help of advocates, artists, and activists, who care about their community, we can bring awareness and resources to problems local to Sacramento. We are seeking artists whose work addresses and explores issues central to the Sacramento region. Our intent is to create a space of connection, education and conversation that leads to innovative ideas and meaningful actions. Since the theme lends itself to topics that are experienced by the region at large, we welcome entries that span the entire Sacramento metropolitan area. We also invite artists to explore their medium(s) with influences by regional non-profit associations such as WEAVE, Soil Born, Citizens' Climate Lobby, etc.

Categories Accepted:

Open to most mediums, closed to photography.
